Your safety at WSTIH

Standards for the Protection of Minors – short version
Appendix No. 2 to Rector's Order No. 01/10/2026 of 01.10.2026

Are you under 18 and taking part in a WSTIH class or event? You have the right to feel safe. These rules also apply to minor students.

You have the right to respect and help

- No one may hit, humiliate, intimidate, ridicule or discriminate against you.
- No one may force you into sexual contact, unwanted touching, photos or conversations of a sexual nature.
- You can say no when someone's behaviour crosses your boundaries. Help in a dangerous situation may require action by an adult.
- You can ask questions, ask for a break, a simpler explanation, translation or help with communication.
- Making a report will not take away your right to study or take part in classes. You do not have to prove on your own that someone is hurting you.

When something worries you

1. If you can, go to a safe place and tell an adult you trust. This can be a teacher, a group supervisor or a WSTIH staff member.
2. Say what happened and whether you are in a safe place now. You can speak, write or use communication support. You do not have to fill in a form.
3. If the first person did not help or the report concerns them, go to another person or use the contacts given on the second page.
4. If your life or health is in immediate danger, call 112. Do not wait for a reply to an e-mail.

Help may require passing on information

The person you tell about the danger will listen to you and explain the next steps. They may pass the information on to the people responsible for protection or to the appropriate services. They will not discuss your case with people who have no reason to know. If you are afraid of a parent, guardian or teacher, say so.

Where to get help

Help outside the University

112 – when life or health is in danger.

800 12 12 12 – Children's Helpline of the Ombudsman for Children. Free, anonymous, available 24 hours a day. You can also use the chat at 800121212.pl.

You can go directly to the Police. You do not need permission from a WSTIH staff member to seek help.

Look after the safety of others online too

- Do not ridicule or exclude others, and do not spread rumours or other people's personal data.
- Do not record or publish photos of other people without permission. Do not send intimate or humiliating content.
- Do not share passwords or private data. Do not respond to requests for secret contact, intimate photos or a meeting that make you feel uneasy.
- If you see someone being harmed, tell a safe person. You do not have to stop the perpetrator yourself or copy harmful content.

You can find the full Standards on the WSTIH website and in a visible place at the University. Ask a staff member to show them to you or explain them. You are protected even if you do not sign a declaration.
